WHEREAS:

The International Law Section of the Florida Bar Association and the Shanghai Bar Association, wishing as they do to build up a special relationship and moved by a common concern over the future of the legal profession, deem it desirable to establish close links between the two Bar Associations in response to certain common needs, and specifically:

- To enable members of both Bar Associations to enjoy ideal arrangements for becoming acquainted with the ever more complex and varied legal relationships arising through the economic bonds between the two countries and the social relationships arising between their citizens;

- To improve the service provided for legal service users under American Law and Chinese law through enhanced reciprocal acquaintance with the legal and court systems of the two countries

This common stance is also to respond to the following professional goals:

- To foster the free circulation of lawyers, facilitating the exercise of the profession between the two countries, and enabling exchanges and meetings to be arranged, particularly in the area of professional training or exchanges between young or aspiring lawyers;

- to facilitate relationships between the two Institutions, particularly the reciprocal provision of information on matters relating to their professional deontology, the fundamental rules of the profession, organization and professional training;

- to foster personal and professional contact between members of the two Bars

Article 1.2

The International Law Section of the Florida Bar Association and the Shanghai Bar each undertakes to keep the other informed of all developments in legal and court systems pertaining to the practice of the legal profession.

Article 1.3

Both Institutions undertake to exchange information on trends, systems and developments in provisions for entry into the profession and for initiation and continuous training for the profession.

Article 1.4

Both Institutions undertake to inform each other systematically and on a regular basis of the main new provisions pertaining to the law and its interpretation that come into force in their respective countries.

Article 1.5

Both Institutions undertake to exchange information on all business related missions organized by consular institutions or other bodies where it relates to Shanghai or Florida.

Associations on a long-term basis;
