Morning Sessions (room Met 2)

10:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m.

Hot Topics in International Arbitration

This panel discussion will delve into the most pressing and emerging issues in the field of international arbitration. Renowned experts will share their insights and experiences on a range of topics, providing attendees with a comprehensive understanding of the current landscape and future trends.

Meet the Fourth Party: AI and the Future of International Dispute Resolution

The ODR field has largely eschewed the language of AI to describe the roles technology can play in a dispute resolution process, instead opting for the concept of the "fourth party." The primary question becomes how to optimize the partnership to achieve our shared objective, which is finding a fair resolution to the dispute at hand. The Impact of AI and Technology is reshaping the arbitration process, from document review to decision-making. Discuss the potential benefits and challenges of incorporating technology into international disputes.

Conflicts of Interest, Disclosure Obligations, and Corruption Issues

Conflicts of interest, disclosure obligations, and the specter of corruption can significantly impact the integrity and fairness of proceedings. The speaker will delve into the intricate interplay of these issues, exploring best practices, emerging trends, and potential pitfalls.

Enforcing Arbitration Awards Against Russian Parties and Presumed Arbitrator Bias

The presentation will focus on the complex issues surrounding the enforcement of awards against Russian parties, considering the potential for arbitrator bias and the latest legal developments and strategies while considering related challenges

International Construction Arbitration: Infrastructure Projects with Sovereigns

This session will discuss key issues regarding international construction arbitration and other conflict management options for infrastructure projects with states or state-related entities. Attendees will learn, among other things, options available for international infrastructure projects and explore the various issues and challenges when the project's arbitrations and mediations are international and that involve a sovereign. The panel will discuss the cultural impact on the process of the interplay between the common law and civil law traditions and how the exchange of information may be limited with parties from civil law jurisdictions where "Discovery" is not common and which is limited in the ICDR's International Arbitration Rules consistent with international arbitration practice. Other areas where the parties' expectations may differ include specific clause provisions, witness examination, experts, written submissions, privilege concerns, emergency relief, early disposition, the use of technology and the allocation of costs. Challenges may also arise when dealing with language and logistical issues, climate change issues and ADR options to consider to always keep the project moving forward.
